Finance Minister Ali Hassan Khalil conducted a surprise visit to Beirut Port where he inspected sections, blocks and departments where customs clearances take place, as well as the containers' quays. He also listened closely to several citizens who talked about the procedures for clearing their goods and the problems they face. Upon finishing his tour to the port, Minister Khalil tweeted: "As of today, there won't be any cover for anyone at the Customs, and the right of the State is for the State only."
